Experience: As Principal and Senior Project Manager, David is responsible for client communications, project planning, organizing, scheduling, and leadership of the architectural/engineering design team throughout the design process. He has developed an expertise in the field of construction cost estimating/value engineering and provides the cost estimating/monitoring on all projects for the firm.

David Potter has 33 years of professional experience in all phases of architecture on a wide variety of building types for private, corporate, institutional and governmental clients. His reputation in the field of cost control is a major asset to the firm, and plays a role in the construction cost trends monitoring of North Texas and Southern Oklahoma. He helped bring Construction-Manager-at-Risk delivery method to the North Texas area. David introduced the new method to Holliday ISD, Olney ISD, Midwestern State University, Wichita Falls ISD and just re-introduced it to the City of Wichita Falls among others. This new concept brings a much needed team approach to construction during a tumultuous time of cost estimating.
